Dead Man Walking
Directed by Tim Robbins

DEATH PENALTY  PRISON MINISTRY

A convicted murderer on death row and the nun who befriends him. Through the portrayal of finely drawn characters and their interactions as the days, hours, and minutes tick down to the condemned man’s execution, powerful emotions are unleashed. While Matthew Poncelet and Sister Prejean desperately try to gain a stay of execution from the governor or the courts, scenes are intercut from the brutal crime, gradually revealing the truth about the events that transpired. In addition to her temporal help, the nun also tries to reach out spiritually and assist as a guide to salvation.

Just Mercy
Directed by Destin Daniel Cretton

DEATH PENALTY  EXONEREES  RACIAL JUSTICE

This award-winning film adaptation of Bryan Stevenson’s bestselling memoir tells the story of Walter McMillian, a black man wrongfully-convicted of the murder of a white woman in 1980’s Alabama.

Where There Is Darkness
Directed by Werner Herzog

DEATH PENALTY

Where There Is Darkness documents the true story of Fr. Rene Robert, a beloved priest who reached out from beyond the grave to save the life of the man who murdered him.
In the Executioner's Shadow
Directed by Maggie Burnette Stogner and Rick Stack

In the Executioner's Shadow draws viewers into riveting personal stories: the rare perspective of a former state executioner who nearly executes an innocent person; a Boston Marathon bombing victim who struggles to decide what justice really means; and the parents of a murder victim who face abandoning their values or fighting for the life of their daughter’s killer. As the battle to overturn capital punishment comes to a head in the U.S., this provocative film challenges viewers to question their deepest beliefs about justice.

Lindy Lou, Juror Number 2
Directed by Florent Vassault

For 20 years, Lindy has lived with an unbearable feeling of guilt. Committed to fulfilling her civic duty, Lindy sat on a jury with 11 other jurors that handed down the death penalty to a Mississippi man convicted in a double homicide. But an overwhelming feeling of regret compels Lindy to track down her fellow jurors and tackle an oft-politicized issue with humor and sincere curiosity.

True Conviction
Directed by Jamie Meltzer

There’s a new detective agency in Dallas, Texas, started by three exonerated men, with decades in prison served between them. True Conviction is a character-driven documentary that follows these change-makers as they rebuild their lives and families, learn to investigate cases, and work to support one another.
Fight for Justice: David and Me
Directed by Ray Klonsky

Ray Klonsky, a Canadian teenager, begins corresponding with inmate David McCallum. Their exchanging of letters leads to the changing of both their lives forever. Ray is determined to set an innocent man free from a flawed judicial system.

The Gathering
Directed by Micki Dickoff

The Gathering is a film that tells the story of Witness to Innocence, the largest organization of death row exonerees in the country. These innocent men and women, some having spent decades on death row for murders they didn’t commit, come together once a year to share their thoughts and feelings. The exonerees empower each other, speaking out about a broken justice system that makes mistakes and compels them to be warriors against the death penalty.

The Green Mile
Directed by Frank Darabont

Death Row guards at a penitentiary in the 1930’s have a moral dilemma with their job when they discover one of their prisoners, a convicted murderer, has a special gift.
Circles
Directed by Cassidy Friedman

Eric Butler, a Hurricane Katrina survivor and pioneer of the restorative justice movement, relocates and finds work at an Oakland, California, high school enforcing his no-nonsense approach to counseling vulnerable Black and Latino teenagers. But when his own teenage son is arrested and beaten in jail, he begins to question his methods and ability — not just as a teacher, but also as a father. With incredible access, Circles is an inspirational portrait of a father desperate to provide his son with the leadership and compassion he never received from his own.

Circle Up
Directed by Julie Mallozzi

RESTORATIVE JUSTICE

A mother is devastated by the murder of her son. Instead of being vengeful she reaches out to her son’s killer and offers a chance at restorative justice. They team up with trauma survivors, criminal justice leaders, and Native American peacemakers to divert at-risk youth from more violence — turning pain and anger into positive community change.

Facing the Demons
Produced by Dee Cameron Company

RESTORATIVE JUSTICE

Facing the Demons is an hour-long documentary video about the journey of the family and friends of murder victim Michael Marslew, confronting face-to-face in a conference two of the offenders responsible for Michael’s death.

Healing Justice
Directed by Shakti Butler, PhD

RESTORATIVE JUSTICE

Healing Justice explores the causes and consequences of the current North American justice system and its effect on marginalized communities. The film walks back through the history of violence that has led to our current system, bringing into focus the histories of trauma — on a personal, interpersonal, community, and generational level. Healing Justice is meant to prompt questions and open conversations exploring trauma, justice, and healing.
A Justice that Heals
Directed by Jay Shefsky

The one-hour documentary originally aired on WTTW in Chicago in April 2000. A Justice That Heals opens with Mario Ramos, in prison, recounting a dream he had before the crime: blood on his hands, police, a murder. He knew it was coming, he says, yet he did nothing to stop it. Then, Mario and his victim's twin brother recount Andrew Young’s murder. Andrew’s parents enter the story, then Mario’s parents. Finally, we meet Father Robert Oldershaw, a priest with the courage to “love the sinner” while he “hated the sin.”

Burning Bridges
Directed by Laura Mirsky

Burning Bridges is a 35-minute documentary about the arson of Mood’s Bridge, a historic covered bridge in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, USA, and the restorative conference held in its wake. This emotional conference brought together the six young men who burned down the bridge with their families and members of the community. Using news footage, interviews, and video of the actual conference, the documentary tells the story of a community moving through grief and anger to healing.
